It is all to keep in view such men as Don businson, Vilas, ex-Minister Phelps, Dan mant, Herbert, of Alabama, Phinney, of Misensin, Culberson, of Texas and others. But it is not probable, barring ex-Secretary hitts, that Mr. Cleveland has formally prited anybody to go into his cabinet, exput Sentor John G. Carlisle, of Kentucky. Is latter has been offered, and in spite it the repeated denials, it is blieved that he accepted, the treasury portfolio. Cermily no man is better qualified for this accepted. No better could have been exceed than the distinguished Kentuckian. In view of the tariff legislation be enacted. No better could have been acted than the distinguished Kentuckian. In man in public life is such a thorough interest of the tariff question and its practiworkings as Carlisle. There is nothing of the true or political charletan in Mr.

Carlisle and his selection will give as much satisfaction to the whole people as to the democratic party.

Discussing the question of an extra session of congress, Senator Jones, of Arkansas, said today:

"I favor it because I consider an early revision of the tariff to be absolutely necessary to continued democratic success. The effect of a probable reaction from the enactment of a new tariff, which my experi-ence tells nie will surely come, should be given time to wear off before the next election. The full effects of such a law can then be appreciated by the people. They will be enabled to estimate its beneficial influence and will not be misled by the army of calamity howsers, the republicans will employ in their desperate efforts to regain control of the government. The democratic party is pledged to a revision of the tariff laws. That is about the only question of immediate concern. The sooner we get a revised tariff in operation the better.

"I do not think it would be wise to call congress together immediately after Mr. Cleveland's inauguration, for the reason that gent bill. My idea is that there should be appointed members of the present con gress on the ways and means sub-committee with power to send for persons and papers. They should sit during the interim. They should work day and night if necessary to complete the report to be made to the next sitting of congress. By industry and intelligent application they would be given ample time to formulate a measure upon the lines of the Chicago platform. Congress should be called next October, when the government has got into smooth running order. The bill reasonable period allowed for debate, and pass a wise, conservative tariff law that is generally beneficial in its effects, the democracy will have long and uninterrupted con trol. The republican party will be buried beyond hope of resurrection. It will be known only as a part of ancient history."

The Merry War Is Over. since the election of Mr. Clevelan was known to be a certainty a merry war has raged among the democrats of this district over who should manage the ration features. Every man Jack of them wanted to be on the committee. Naturally two factions arose. One of them formed tee for the district, Mr. James L. Norris. The other took its position with the demo-eratic committee of the district. So fierce became the contention between the two factions that it was found necessary to call in National Chairman Harrity to decide between them. He came, he saw, and he arbitrated. He recognized Mr. Norris. Then he appointed a general committee of fifty with Cononel Berret as chairman. He authorized the chairman to enlarged the committee by the addition of eighty names. TENNESSEE'S CABINET CLAIM.

Strong Presentation of the Fitness of Fx Governor James D. Porter.

Governor James D. Porter.

Memphis, Tenn., December 28.—(Special.)—Ex-Governor James D. Porter, who was for some time an assistant secretary of state under Mr. Bayard, during the first Cleveland regime, is now being urged for a portfolio proper by his friends in Tennessee and elsewhere. Governor Porter is now in private life, practicing his profession and enjoying a comfortable competency in his home at Paris, Tenn. The Appeal-Avalanche, of this city, strongly presents the claims of Tennessee upon Mr. Cleveland for this distinguished recognition and reward of the Volunteer State's favorite son. Of him the paper says:

He is today the sage and trusted adviser of the democracy of the Volunteer State. He is right on all questions of party policy, and is in the vigor of bis mental and physical powers. Why should not Tennessee be thus honored? Her democrats have never wavered from the true line. They fought hard and successfully against formidable opposition during the campaign which has just closed. They have earned the right to ask consideration. When the effort was made to effect a compromise on the tariff, Tennessee democrats showed no disposition to make terms. They were willing to go to defeat rather than to allow their faith to be brought into question. Governor Porter represents these democrats throughly. He has twice filled the highest office in their gift, and as an executive officer in Mr. Cleveland's first administration acquitted himself with the highest possible credit to the administration to his state and to himself. He has the faculty of leadership and the knowledge that comes of long experience in public affairs.

that Andrieux will resort to violence, as was at first intimated. There is no disguising the fact that Andrieux has gained rest on the charge of treason, the arrest to be effected suddenly and to strike terror to the plotters for the overthrow of the ad scheme by boldly proclaiming the government's intentions and purposes, as claimed, to silence him in the task of exposing the Panama frauds by committing him to a dungeon. He also proclaimed that he had made sure of his security of evidence in this possession or under his control so the his possession or under his control so that the purpose of the government would be defeated. This, it is reported, made the ministry hesitate in their purpose of arresting Andrieux without having clear and unanswerable cvidence to establish the case against him. The ministry feared that the public would interpret a hasty arrest without positive evidence to sustain it, as proof that the statements of Andrieux as to the motives of the government were true, and an would mean the ruin of the cabinet.

Andrieux's Challenge.

When Andrieux arose Monday morning still at liberty and without the threatened order naving been executed, he determined on a still bolder move, and that was to give Ribot his choice between a duel or a retraction of the words in which he had accused Andrieux of endeavoring to excite disorder and virtually of being an instigator of insurrection. Andrieux sent a challenge to M. Ribot on the ground stated. The premier replied through his secretary that the utterance of Ribot had not gone beyond legitimate public criticism. Andrieux, not satisfied with this reply sent two friends to the premier to du and satisfaction. The friends represented that Andrieux considered Ribot's words as implying that Andrieux was guilty of a criminal and ignoble act, and was seeking in an illegitimate manner to arouse disorder and bloodshed. Andrieux therefore insisted, they declared, on such satisfaction as a duel would give. Andrienx's Challenge.

Ribot Hud Nothing Else to Say.

Ribot replied quietly that he had nothing to add to the explanation already given through his secretary, except that he considered that the explanation ought to have dissipated any doubts of Andrieux's to the sense in which the words, which Andrieux considered the offense, had been used. M. Ribot did not speak apologetically, nor did he offer any retraction, or even propose to mitigate or extenuate the meaning of what had been said. He declined, at the same time, to discuss the matter any further.

mittee faction very angry and all of them who had been appointed on the original committee of fifty resigned. There were twenty-one of them. Their resignations were promptly accepted. Colonel Berret then proceeded calmly to fill the vacancies. This being done, an executive committee of tweaty-one was selected from the whole committee, and of this working committee, Mr. Norris was made chairman. This ended the rearry war. Peace once more reigns in the ranks of the district democracy. The war drums are hushed and the war banners are stowed away in a safe place. Hostilities will be resumed immediately after the inauguration.

Colonel Berret is the gentleman who was chairman of the inauguration committee, ight years ago. This was the greatest inauguration ever known in the history of such affairs. He save the one next March will surpass the one seight years ago as far as that surpassed all its predecessors. His choice of chairman of the executive committee was an admirable one. Mr. Norris is an energetic man capable of any amount of work, and possessed of the rare faculty of getting the best out of his subordinates there is in them. Mr. Norris is the son of the late John L. Norris, for many years president of the Jackson Democratic Association, the oldest political organization in he District of Columbia. There is no doubt that the inauguration most spring will be the biggest and most. The Cholera Report.

The Mexican Troops Routed by the Revolutionists—Guarding the Border.

Laredo, Tex., December 28.—News was received here last night that Mexican soldiers 250 strong, and revolutionists, 300 strong, fought on Monday at Las Animas, Mexico-Thirteen soldiers and a score of revolutionists were killed. Many were wounded on both sides.

The revolutionists were commanded by General Estrada and the Mexican troops by General García. The Mexican troops were routed. It is said that the town of Gueraro is now in danger of being captured by the revolutionists. Many of the Mexican soldiers are flocking to the standard of Estrada-The revolution is assuming a more serious aspect than it was 'thought it would at first and Uncle Sam is doing right in rushing United States troops to the scene, as they may yet be needed to protect the interests of Americans on the border from stragglers, etc., who will commit much vandalism if the revolution on 'the border Continues. New York, December 28.—(Special.)—Arrangements are completed for the immediate transfer of Rev. Dr. Charles F. has only affected his right hand with which he has labored so assiduously for more than half a century.

Dr. Deems is a southerner from North Carolina and is widely known and beloved in the south. He edited the first prohibition paper in America while living in North Carolina years before the late war. It was called "The Ballot."

He was afterwards president of the Greensboro female college. Coming to New York in 1865 he began to preach as an independent southern Methodist minister and so won upon the affections of the late Commodore Vanderbilt that the multi-millionaire bought for him the splendid church on Mercer street which he has since made world-celebrated.

Dr. Deems is in his seventy-third year, is president of the American Institute of Philosophy and editor of Christian Thought. He is the father-in-law of Hon. Marion Verdery, formerly of Augusta. He has been an energetic worker all his life and his present calamity is a part of the penalty of that zeal. It is hoped that rest, cessation from pulpit and editorial labors, and the skillful attention he now has will soon restore him to health and activity.

GEORGIA AND THE CHICAGO FAIR.

The Last Chance Expires January 10th for Special Exhibit.

sioner from Tennessee, who is now in Chicago:

I have this day had a final interview with the Hon. F. J. V. Skiff, chief of the department of mines and mining of the world's fair, in regard to an exhibit of the resources of Tennessee in this department by individuals or corporations. He has consented to what I consider, under all the circumstances, a liberal concession to Tennessee in connection with Alabama, Georgia and Florida. These four states can have on the ground floor of said department fourteen hundred (1,400) square feet in which to make a collective exhibit, each state taking its proportionate share. Should any one or more of these fall or refuse to go into this arrangement, the ones going into it will get it all. This concession, if not accepted at once, will be forfeited on January 10, 1893.

The Speaker Pays a Longthy Call to the President-Elect.

New York, December 28.—(Special.)—Speaker Crisp spent two hours with Mr. Cleveland today, the distinguished leaders holding a conference to discuss questions of party policy. Just what trahspired is not, of course, known, but it is known that the conference was one of importance to the democratic party and that the decisions reached will have much to do with shaping the work of congress.

Naturally, Speaker Crisp would not consent to an interview. When asked whether he had seen Mr. Cleveland, he replied:

"Oh, yes. I was with him today from 12 until 2 o'clock."

"And the speakership?" HIS ANSWER TO ANDRIEUX'S NOTE.

Paris, December 28.—The effort of Andrieux to draw Premier Ribot into a duel has failed aud it is not considered likely "And the speakership?"
"Well, now, I cannot tell you anything about that, or whether or not that matter was mentioned by us, but I had a pleasant call on Mr. Cleveland, and I found many things to talk about I assure you. I will tell you one thing, I'm not an anti-Cleveland candidate for the speakership; I am not an anti-Cleveland anything."

There is no doubt that the government intended to order his ar-"Yes, I have seen him or he saw me "Well, how do you feel about that mat-ter, Mr. Crisp?" The speaker waved away the subject with his hand. "I had rather not say a word about it. Too much has already been said about it."

Late this afternoo when Speaker Crisp had returned to the Hoffman house, after his conference with Mr. Cleveland, Mr. E. Ellery Anderson, president of the Reform Club, called on him there. He called to assure Mr. Crisp that no sub had been intended by the club on the occasion of the late dinner. He wanted to remove any such impression from Mr. Crisp's mind and extended to him the renewed assurance of the club's most distinguished consideration. he went to Mr. Crisp's room. When he came down he had nothing to say and, came down he had nothing to say and, it is inferred that the reception that he got from the speaker was courteous but not particularly enthus astic. At any rate it is evident that the Reform Club does not stand any higher in Speaker Crisp's estimation than it did before.

The plant is located on Kinnickinnic avenue. It includes immense storage stables for electric motors, machine shops and stables. In the barn were fifty new electric motors and nearly all of the new electric motors and nearly an of the summer cars owned by the company. The machine shops were built the past season and were fitted with very fine machinery for the re-building and repairing of cars. The buildings were the principal depot of the Milwankee Street Railway Company and the fire greatly crippled the company. The bomb thrower is not known. leading companies, received orders to cease writing insurance on manufacturing plants in this city. The firebug operating in Milwaukee has cost the city more than five million dollars in two months. Trouble began on the night of October 26th, when 300 buildings were distroyed and $4,000,000 was consumed. While the conflagration was raging on the east side an attempet was made to burn the west side.

The week following Roch & Leober's woodware auction store was fired, the loss there being $75,000. A week later T. L. Kelley's dry goods store was destroyed with a loss of $185,000. The Milwaukee Mattrees Company was burned out a few days later with a $20,000 loss. Hennreke & Co.'s art store came next with a loss of $50,000. The oragin of this fire is uncertain.

Special Meeting of Council. A special meeting of the city council is to be held to take action toward stopping the reign of incendiarism, and it is likely that a special grand jury will be called to investigate the matter.

The only person who saw the alleged bomb thrown was Night Watchman Warden. He says he was standing near the main doorway of the barn in which the motor cars were stored. There was a whizz, a flash and a terrible explosion. If there was a bomb thrown, which many doubt, it came through the main doorway and struck a car near the entrance. Hardly ten seconds elapsed, according to the watchman's story, before the cars in the building were in flames. Manager Lynn, of the company is convinced of the truthfulness of the watchman's story. That there was an explosion every one in the neighborhood will testify. A small cottage next to the plant of the street railway company was also wrecked.

Thinks They Fired Their Own Houses.
Chief Janssen, of the police department, believes the only firebugs at work here are dishonest owners of property, who have taken advantage of the excessive insurance to burn their buildings for the insurance. Chief Janssen's investigation will be mainly along the line. President James, of the Northwestern National Insurance Company, believes with Chief Janssen that about half the fires have been purely accidental, perhaps one or two set by thleves or tramps looking for plunder, and all the rest started by the owners of the buildings burned. It is notable that in almost every case the insurance has been as great or greater than the loss.

sunk by the New York and Long Island Tunnel Company in Fourth street, causing the death of six persons, fatally injuring two others and wounding twenty more. The following is a list of the killed so far as could be ascertained tonight:

Mary Grayden aged twenty-one, waitress; Henry O'Brien grocer's clerk, aged thirty-three; Mrs. Rocco, wife of Petro Rocco a barber; John Hopkins, aged twenty-two proprietor of a restaurant; Nicola Lodano, brother of Mrs. Rocco.

The scene of the explosion is the most thickly settled portion of Hunter's Point. In the vicinity are the Long Island Savings bank, Davrena's flats, a row of four-story brick buildings, the postoffice, Petro Rocco's barber shop, John Hopkins's restaurant and F. Plian's jewelry store. Next to the postoffice is Frank McDermott's saloon, with two apartment floors above. Seventeen families occupied these buildings.

The tunnel company's shaft is about twenty-five feet long by twelve feet wide. A few feet beyond the lower end of the mouth of the shaft was a rude shed in which steam chests for thawing out cartridges of explosives were kept. This shed was within ten feet of the rear walls of the postoffice and Barber Rocco's rooms. No one has yet been found who can tell exactly how the explosion occurred, but the following facts have been fearned. Some the meadows early this morning to be prepared for sending down to the drillers working in the heading, which is being blasted out under Fourth street at a depth of eighty-five feet. As the explosive was frozen Foreman McEntee placed the cartridges in the steam chests to thaw them out. They had been there about fifteen minutes when the explosion occurred. All that was left of the chests and sheds was a few splinters. A hole in the ground about three feet deep by eight feet wide told the story of its downward force.

The Flames Broke Out.

The Flames Broke Out.

The horror of the occasion was intensified by the bursting out of flames on the third floor of one of the apartment buildings. The flames spread rapidly and before the firemen got them under control the whole row of buildings were gutted. The damage was not confined to the flats. For a half mile in every direction window panes in stores and houses were blown out, falling on the heads of many people passing along the sidewalks, by which means many were cut and otherwise injured, and scores of men and women could be seen rushing to drug stores and doctors' offices to have their wounds attended to. The sidewalks were covered with broken glass. In many of the stores articles were thrown from the shelves and counters.

At least twenty families were rendered homeless, most of them losing everything they possessed except the things on their backs. Nine workmen were in the tunnel when the explosion occurred. One of them said they felt the shock and thought the shaft had collapsed. It was nearly half an hour before any of them would venture to investigate and ask to be drawn to the surface.

Davrena's flat suffered worst of the buildings in the neighborhood. Broken glass did most of the mischief to the dead and wounded. One man's throat was cut so that he died instantly. Wounds from that cause are innumerable. Many people were hurt by flying bricks and splinters and from being caught under falling walls and timbers.

GOVERNOR FLOWER ON THE SOUTH. The Text of a Valuable Letter Written to Chattanoga, Tenn., December 28.—(Special.)—The following letter has come to a Chattanooga irm from Governor Flower, of New York, in response to a request for his opinion upon the south's future prosperity:

Albany, N. Y., December 22.—Gentlemen: Your letter of December 16th is at hand. I have confidence in the future development of the south. Its natural resources are great: land is abundant and cheap, and I can see no reason why, with proper energy and sufficient capital, there should not be a continuance of prosperity. I think that a wholesome immigration should be encouraged with a view to furnishing capable labor.

The people of the south have admirable qualities for building up their industries and agriculture, and the record of progress during the last ten years gives promise of even more wonderful results in the future.

ROSWELL P. FLOWER.

Charleston, S. C., December 28.—(Special.)—
Captain A. C. Hammett, a well known citizen, died here suddenly today, aged fifty-four years. He had left his residence, 25 Amherst street, at the usual hour this morning, for the pursuit of his daily duties and was taken sick in the street and died very soon afterwards in a neighboring residence. The deceased spent nearly all his life in the service of the South Carolina railroad, but was at the time of his death in the service of the wharf company. He was the organizer of the famous Bulle Guards, which played a prominent part in the election of 1876. He was also very friendly with the newspaper men, for whom he did many kindnesses. At one time he was on the staff of The Charleston Journal of Commerce. Death of an Old Charlestonian

The Brotherhood of Engineers.

A committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers waited on Judge Speer imm distely after hearing his decision in the telegraphers' case and requested him to issue an order requiring Mr. George D. Wadley to sign their new contract with them. Judge Speer told them to inform their organization that if they would send their contract to him and the papers were all in proper shape that he would take the matter under consideration. As yet the papers have not been presented and it is probable that they will not be until the expiration of the ninety des motice of which Mr. Wadley took advances. A great deal of uneasiness is anniested on the part of the engineers as annies that the property of the engineers as annies annies as annies to the paper of the engineers as annies and ever since they have been "groping in the dark."

In the case of Wright & Scandvitt, of Butler, Ga., vs. Comer, receiver for the Cenral railroad, Judge Speer has ordered the

Two Theories Concerning the Death of Dr. Youngblood Near Greensboro.

Greenshoro, Ga., December 28.—(Special.)
The jury of inquest in the killing of Dr. R.
J. Youngblood, an account of which was telegraphed The Constitution yesterday, has concluded its investigation and brought in a verdict that he had been killed by some person or persons unknown.

Further particulars have been obtained as a result of the investigation of the coroner's jury. Dr. Youngblood was found yesterday morning lying behind the counter in his store, dead. The load which had caused his death had entered just under the left eye, and ranging upwards had carried away the entire side of his skull. His brains were spattered on the wall behind him and a large quantity of them had oozed from his head after he fell. In front of him on the counter were packages of pow der. shot, some cheese and candy, and back of him on the shelves was some change. Nothing was disturbed in the store and it was clear that robbery was not the cause When found the front door was open and the lamp in the store was burning brightly. A single-barrel breech-loading gun was lyng at the front door, some ten steps away. An empty shell was in son for the killing. One of these is that some one had come in the store to make a few purchases, and that Dr. Youngblood had tried to sell him the gun. While the party was examining it the gun was accidentally discharged, and horrified at the killing, the party made off, frightened that if he gave the alarm he might be accused of murder. The fact that some shells and powder and shot and loading instruments were on the counter makes this theory a

The other is that it was a brutal and pre-The other is that it was a brutal and pre-meditated murder. That the assassin had made the purchases for the purpose of dis-arming the doctor's suspicions if he had any, and for the purpose of securing the gun. While Dr. Youngblood turned for some purpose the assassin fired the fatal shot. Doubtless, if this theory is correct, it was the intention of the assassin to leave the gun at the doctor's side to create the impression that it was suicide, but in his excitement he carried the gun to the door ession that it was suicide, but in his ement he carried the gun to the door and there dropped it.

The matter is shrouded in mystery, but every effort will be made to clear it away. If it was murder the murderer will be apprehended. If it was an accident, as contended in the first theory, then the party who did the shooting will doubtless be found.

TWO MORE ARRESTS

Of Parties Suspected of Being Implicated in Calloway's Murder. Athens, Ga., December 28.—(Special.)— The Banner will publish tomorrow the story of the capture of three negroes who are charged with the murder of Mr. William charged with the murder of Mr. William Calloway. Two of them, Walter Gholston and Asa Hunt, were arrested ten days ago and the last one, John Smith, was arrested tonight. Gholston told Mr. Pope Davis, of the Athens police force, the entire story saying that Hunt and Smith did the killing. It will be remembered that on the 17th of September Mr. William Calloway, an esteemed citizen, was found dead in a clump of woods near here. No clue was obtained as to his murder and a reward of $200 was offered by the city council, $200 by the citizens and $200 by Governor Northen for the apprehension and conviction of the murderers. The commitment trail will be held soon.

Tillman.

Columbia, S. C., December 28.—(Special.)—An editorial in today's Register has got the railway men, who compose the committee that visited Governor Tillman last week in regard to the railway bili, hopping mad. It is all about that "dama" which they gave out that the governor used. The account the committee prepared said that the governor remarked that the opposition of several thousand railway men "didn't amount to a damn," etc., and was telegraphed in the correspondence. The editorial says that no such sentence passed the governor's ilps and "It is one of those balls of concentrated journalistic potash made of the doubly-distilled lie." The committee will meet tomorrow and prepare affidavits to certify to the truth of the interview, and they declare they will make it hot for somebody.

C. K. Robb, one of the committee, has written a card for The State, in which he says: "Any man who says Governor Tillman (on the night of the interview by the committee of railway men) did not use the word "damn," lies."

A FIGHT AT A GOLD MINE.

Eleven Men Killed and a Large Number

Denver, Colo., December 28.—San Jaur mining camp has followed the precedents of all great mining excitments by baptizing itself with human blood. A courier arrived in Bluff City this morning and reported terrible battle yesterday in which over one hundred shots were exchangd. Eleven men killed and a large number wounded.

George Ferguson, an old prospector, and James Cody, known as "Blind Jim," one of the best known characters in Arizona and New Mexico mining camps, are among the slain. The courier was in a state of breathless excitement and had left the grounds after the last shot was fired to obtain medical aid.

A private dispatch this afternoon from Dolores to John Eddy, a Denver mining man, confirms the terrible report. The direct cause of the trouble was the discovery of large nuggets in the bottom of a small stream. Up to the moment of the rich strike everything was all right, but the sight of large nuggets had the same effect on the prospectors as a red rag on a Mexican bull. Each man claimed that he had first located the ground and to settle the dispute, guns were brought to bear. Over forty men were engaged in the conflict. Few, if any, excaped unhurt.

LaGrange, Ga., December 28.—(Special.)—The college has suspended one week for Christmas. Some of the young ladies, before leaving for home, out of their pin money, subscribed $115 to help secure the Witham loan fund. William S. Witham, of Anniston, Ala., has promised to give $10,000 to the college for the education of poor girls, on condition that the friends of the college shall raise $5,000 by January 1, 1833. The North Georgia conference has promised to raise $5,000 additional if the friends of the college will contribute the $5,000 required to secure Mr. Witham's gift. Three thousand has been subscribed; and only $2,000 more will be needed to secure the $15,000 promised by Mr. Witham and the conference. This amount must be raised this week. In the interest of poor girls and Christian education, the college asks its friends to help secure this loan fund. If you cannot pay cash, give us a subscription payable within six months. EARL WARNER, NEW LONDON, CONN., makes the following statement:

"About 26 years ago I was stricken with Paralysis of the lower extremities and was unable to move. I was treated by physicians and so far relieved as to be able, with the assistance of crutches, to again attend to my business. I was troubled however, by a persistent constipation that nothing seemed to relieve and that finally became so severe as to make my life hardly worth living. After trying many medicines I was advised by my mother to try Brandreth's Pills and I did so, beginning with four Pills as a dose. The relief they afforded me was immediate, and I continued to take them in doses of the above every night. Finally I was obliged to gradually decrease the quantity until I only took one Pill at a time, which was always taken just before retiring. I continued this for over 20 years and then was again obliged to reduce the quantity by taking only half a Pill instead of a whole one and have continued this to the present day. My health during these 26 years has been excellent. I have been free from all pains and aches; have enjoyed a good appetite and a better digestion, and altogether have been as happy as it is possible for any man to be who is obliged to shuffle through life accompanied always by two stout canes, My case is typical of what I believe to be the peculiarity of Brandreth's Pills, namely, that the dose has to be gradually reduced the longer one takes them, instead of increased, as is the case with all other medicines. I send you this testimonial entirely unsolicited and only in the hope of doing good. It may be the means of helping those who most need it."

THE PACE THAT KILLS THE JORDAN HOME

Bear Months of the Demi-Monde Was | Sold Yesterday for the Highest Price Enough for Lizzie Head,

AND SHE LONGED FOR THE INNOCENT

rie Head, the young women who swal-the eighth of an ounce of morphine the Grady hospital early yesterday morning. She never regained consciousness suf-ciently to tell the story of her life and all that is known is what she told her few acquaintances before she died.

Her life is particularly and and pathetic. ris railroad, and is in fairly comfortable cirmid last June, when she came to this city to run a course of first living. She came here to hide her condition and without a friend hide her condition and without a friend the entire city, the was lonely indeed. In a little room on Marietta street she made her home. It was almost bare of fur-niture, and light and ventilation were supplied by one small window. Her loneliness ded the downward road at a galloping pace. She made a few acquaintances during her thort stay here, but they were not of a kind to give her pleasure. She longed for the home again to which she well knew she could again to which she well knew she could never return. To her misery was added poverty, and wretched, indeed, was she during the Christmas holidays, alone and during the Christmas holidays, alone and theroughly heartbroken.

She got all there was out of a life of sin in a few short weeks and then with all the bridges burned behind her, she could see relief only in death. Alone in her room he swallowed a quantity of morphine which she knew was sufficient to kill her and there she expected to die before any one discovrid her. She was found and carried to the hospital, where she died yesterday morning. Brerything possible was done for her, but the dose she had taken was fatal.

An inquest was held yesterday morning and a verdict was returned in accordance with the facts. The body was removed to Wylie & Barclay's undertaking establishment. A telegram was sent to her father and he is expected here this morning to take charge of the body.

A Live Subject.

A Live Subject.

An inquest yesterday morning took a somewhat unexpected turn and the subject, instead of being found stiff was found siting up in bed drinking soup. It was reported to Balliff Pat McCullough night before last that Henry Brown, the negro who was hurt on Sunday was dead. Yesterday morning there were two inquests to be held and Balliff McCullough attended to them. He impanneled a jury to hold an inquest over the dead negro. The twelve jurors and the balliff went to Brown's house at 373 Mangum street and were going in to hold the investigation, but great was their amasement when they found Brown sitting up in bed eating soup and fairly on the road to recovery.

Of course there was no inquest and the would-be jurors laughed over the unusual situation. Brown was very much taken aback when told that the gentlemen had come to hold an inquest over his remains, and regarded it as an unfavorable omen. How the report got out is puzzling the bailiff. A message was received at police seadpuarters announcing it, and later Bailiff McCullough, who is a special bailiff to the coroner, was notified.

FOR JUSTICE OF THE PEACE. The Election to Take Place On the 7th of

The election of justice of the peace of the 1,026th district, which comprises virtually nearly all that part of Adapha south and west of the railroad, is to take piace on Saturday, the 7th of next month. There are several candidates for the position, among them being Judge Edgar H. Orr, who has filled the position since the death of Judge Pat Owens, he having been elected as his successor.

The Constitution published on Sunday

The Constitution published on Sunday a list of a hundred Atlanta lawyers, who heartily endorse Judge Orr for re-election. To this list is to be added the names of Messrs. N. J. & T. A. Hammond, F. R. Walker and T. F. Corrigan.

The race is an interesting one but Judge Orr is confident of re-election. As has made a most excellent officer, and to a constitution reporter he said yesterday:

"Really, with the business of my court, I have had very little time to push my race. I will manage to see as many of my friends at I can between now and the day of the election, but it will be impossible for me to make a complete personal canvass. I will appreciate the encouragement and support of my friends."

The other candidates are Messrs. Jud Gienn, A. W. Harper, Joseph Smith and Tem Boggus.

Vandalism in Americus. Americus, Ga., December 28.—(Special.) The glass doors of the office of the Drs. Hinkle, who are in jail awaiting trial for the killing of Dr. Worsham, were smashed in by hoodlums and the office otherwise abused. The names of the vandals are mown and they will be prosecuted for the nacalled for piece of malicious mischief.

Georgia's Mortar-Board Misses. Thomasville, Ga., December 28.—(Special.)—The Oxford caps adopted by the young ladies of the collegiate department of the South Georgia Military college have appeared and receive general approbation. When the ladies are abroad upon our streets their classic headgear makes them doubly attractive to the lookers-on.

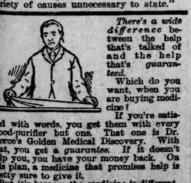

Miss Stokes's Improvement.

The friends of Miss Missouri Stokes will be glad to hear of her improvement to such an extent as to allow her to visit Atlanta The extent as to allow her to visit Atlanta Pesterday from her home in Decatur.

It appears that her illness is not so strious as has been reported. She has been in a very nervous condition owing to her recent sad bereavement, but has not been confined to her home so closely as has been reported. Miss Stokes is pained at the reports about her condition, but is statified at the many evidences of esteem extended her.

extended her.

In regard to the statement that she gave up music several days ago because she thought it led to sin, it appears that this is a mistake. She did not give it up, however, but to quote her "it was from a variety of causes unnecessary to state."

Ever Paid

FOR A PRIVATE RESIDENCE IN ATLANTA.

Perhaps the Most Elegant Home In the South, Connected with Which Is a Sad Story-The Purchaser.

Peachtree and Eighth streets, about which there is a sad romance, was sold yesterday for the biggest price ever paid for a home in Atlanta, with the single exception of the governor's mansion.

this magnificent dwelling by reason of the large sum it brought, and the story about its erection. It was built by Mr. Lee Jordan, of Macon, one of the wealthiest planters in the south. In the elegance of its appointments it has no equal in the city. It cost $65,000.

planters in the south. In the elegance of its appointments it has no equal in the city. It cost $65,000.

The residence is new and has never been occupied. Some menths ago it was placed in the hands of A. J. West & Co., the real estate dealers, for sele. Yesterday the sale was accomplished, and the splendid piece of property goes to Mr. W. M. Dickson. Mr. Dickson bought it for a home, and will occupy it at once.

Attenta yeople remember with sadness the erection of the Jordan mansion, and with-the memory comes thoughts of Mrs. Jordan, who was socially one of the most popular ladies in the south. Her remarkable beauty and wealth gave her a splendid social position, which, combined with her charm of person and manner, won for her an enriable position in the world of society. Her husband owned the largest plantation in Georgia, and possessed a fine country home near Albany. Besides this home he had a fine residence on College Hill, Macon, and another in Columbus. Each of these homes were elegantly furnished and were favorite places with society people. Mrs. Jordan had many friends in Atlanta, and it was her ambition to reside here where she could enjoy the society of her warm friends and the benefits of the social life of the city.

To gratify this wish of his wife Mr. Jordan began the erection of a mansion at the corner of Eighth and Peachtree streets. His purpose was to make it the grandest residence in the south, both in point of architectural beauty and interior furnishings. It was furnished by the Robert Mitchell Company, of Cincinnati, which firm furnished the state capitol. The interior was finished in the finest mahogany and hard woods obtainable. One mantel alone cost $1,500. The parlor chandeliers are of gold and those in the sitting room of silver. All of the furnishings are imported. It was in every way fit for the elegant social functions that Mrs. Jordan intended should be performed there, and society looked forward to the time when she would throw it open.

be performed there, and society looked for-ward to the time when she would throw it ward to the time when she would throw it open.

But just as she was about to move into it she was suddenly taken ill, and soon the sad information was received that she was dead. No death in recent years so saddened Atlanta's social circles, and after it occurred Mr. Jordan gave up the idea of moving ino the new home. So it was put into the hands of Mr. West and his son, Mr. Frank West, and was yesterday sold to Mr. Dickson, the purchase price being the largest ever paid for a private residence in this city. Just as soon as the home, which has been closed since completion, can be put in readiness, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson will move in and after all it will be made a favorite place for social gatherings. place for social gatherings.

The lot fronts 182 feet on Peachtree and is 400 feet deep to Cypress street. It is in the immediate locality of the homes of Messrs.

Bain, West, Culpepper, Morgan and Anderson.

Probably no medicine before the public gives such universal satisfaction as Hood's Sarsa. parilla. Druggists say their customers invariably speak well of it. Be sure to get Hood's.

Greenville, S. C., December 28.—(Special.)—
Isaac Well, who has been doing a large clothing business in this town, made an assignment yesterday afternoon to L. Rosenthal, of Raleign,

Mr. Weil came here about fifteen years ago and has operated one of the largest clothing establishments in the state. His embarrassment was only known to a few friends and his assignment was a surprise to the state of the state

1 Brilliant Wedding at the Central Presbyterian Church.

OTHER INTERESTING EVENTS IN SOCIETY

Engagement of Mr. Greene and Mis Delbridge Announced-Many Dalightful Holiday Parties.

The wedding which united Mr. Lee Douglas Miss Emma Neal was one of the most ant and beautiful ones ever witnessed by Atlanta society.

The ecremony occurred at half-past 5 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian church, yesterday afternoon. This church is a beautiful one for decoration, being handsome and lofty and having an altar and pulpit most rich and impressive. It was a wedding in coleur de rose, and this effect was carried out in every detail. The railing about the pulpit was festioned with pink tulle and garlanded with soft vines looped with pink ribbon and pink carnations. A circle of light radiated from the pink tancers A circle of light radiated from the pink tapers arranged around the railing and below this the altar was banked with many magnificent palms and decorated with tall lamps, having

The wedding party entered the church to the grand strains of the wedding march. First the grand strains of the wedding march. First came the bride's two little cousins, Masters Thornton, who made the prettiest of small pages in their quaint costumes of velvet and lace, and who untied the pink ribbons of the gates at the end of the two aisles.

The ushers and attendants came as follows: Ushers—Mr. Charley McClendon and Mr. Orie Nunnaily; Mr. Fred Cole and Mr. Luther Nettrain.

Attendants-Miss Emily English and Miss Addit Murphey; Mr. Will Black and Mr. Ed wart: Miss Lillian Lochrane and Miss fartha Brown; Mr. Will Ellis and Mr. B. havison; Miss Marion Hillyer and Miss Liz-le Johnson; Mr. Newton Craig and Mr. Alec

Hull.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Pattillo, walked down the aisle alone and was followed by the bride, who came on the arm of her father. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Will J. Thomas.

Miss Neal has been considered since her debut in Atlanta last season, one of the most beautiful young girls in the city, and as a bride she undoubtedly was a vision surpassingly fair. She wore a heavy white satin, brocaded in a. design of roses. The skfrt was slashed on either side to reveal a frill of duchess lace which was finished at the top by smart bows of white satin ribbon. The bodice was made with big empire sleeves, and they and the round neck were finished with a deep fall of duchess lace. Orange blossoms outlined the pointed shape of this waist and the same waxen blossoms formed dainty clusters in the laces at her bosom. The abundant gold-brown hair was arranged in a soft, low coil, and her long tulle veil was arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms in which sparkled a diamond star, the gift of her mother. In her hands she held a big bouquet which sparked a dishool star, the gift of her mother. In her hands she held a big bouquet of bride roses. As she and her handsome father walked down the alsie, she suggested, in her proud young grace and beauty, some hero-lie of old romance.

Miss Pattillo was extremely pretty in an em-pire gown of white satin and chiffon. She were a short tulle veil and carried bride roses. e bridesmaids wore sweetly pretty frocks pink China silk, made in empire style, and dir flowers were La France roses.

Dr. McDonald performed the ceremony with Dr. McDonald performed the ceremony with elequent grace, after which the wedding party was entertained at the handsome home of the bride with a reception that was delightful and brilliant. The wide hallway was decked in helly and mistletoe, the stairway being twined with Christmas vines. At the end of the hall the punch table was placed below an archway formed of holly and hung with lucious clusters of Malsay graces.

the library the presents, which were many it very elegant, were displayed. The draw-room was radiant with many pink roses I tapers, while holly and mistletoe hung in the chandeliers. In the dining room there were placed many let tables decked with pink ribbons and less. The bride's table was ideally beautiful its decorations of camelias, white hyperstances.

Neal, one of the wealthiest and most prominent men of Atlanta, and she also will inherit a large fortune from her mother's family. Mr Douglas is a member of the firm of Douglas, Thomas & Davidson, one of the leading mercantile firms of this city. He has been a most successful young man in a busness way, and personally is a very charming and delightful gentleman. He merits all the happiness he has won. merits all the happiness he has won.

He merits all the happiness he has won.

The 'ngagement of Mr. Frederick Remmington Greene, of Amsterdam, N. Y., and Miss Estelle Delbridge, of Atlanta, is announced. The wedding will octur upon the 4th of January at the First Methodist church. No invitations will be issued, as the ceremony is to be a very pulet one on account of a recent affliction in Mr. Greene's family. The occasion will be of great interest, however, to many people in Atlanta, for Miss Delbridge has a host of friends and admirers here. She is one of the most beautiful joung women in the entire south and her nature is like her loveliness, pure, womanly and sweet. She is greatly admired here and throughout Georgia.

Mr. Greene is one of the best known men in New York society, for he spends a great deal of his time in Gotham, where his aristocratic lineage and unbounded wealth give him a most enviable position. Dame Fortune has been good to him in every way, for she has blessed him with every personal grace and mental charm, and now she has crowned his life with the love of a splendid and beautiful woman.

The first formal reception in the social life of Manchester will be held this evening at the residences of Mr. W. L. Stanton and Dr. J. B. Hawthorne, the builders of the Southern Baptist college. In addition to the charming society of this brilliant suburb, a number of notable people from the city will be present on the occasion, which will be made memorable by bright, short speeches and easy social enjoyment. This may be said to be really the beginning of Manchester's social life.

All the friends of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Haw-All the friends of Dr. and Mrs. J. B. Hawthorne and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Stanton are cordially invited to be present.

This is in place of formal invitations, which for want of time could not be sent out to all who are expected to come.

Last night at the residence of Mr. Burgess Smith, in West End, occurred one of the most elegant and unique entertainments of the holiday season. The entertainment was planned by Miss Lucile Smith in honor of her cousin, Miss Ret Dargan, of Texas. The Smith respective Smith mansion is one of the most magnifi-cent in West End and its spacious rooms and halls are admirably suited the frolicsome games of a crowd of young people. Among the games played the most unique was the potato game. For this a number of huge mal-formed potatoes were used and each gues mai-formed potatoes were used and each guest was supplied with a tiny after-dinner coffee spoon. Bach in turn placed a potato upon his or her spoon and ran around the room three times. If at the end of the run the potato remained on the spoon it was deposited into the basket, and the one who posited into the basket, and the one who succeed in putting the largest number of potatoes into the basket won the prize. This was a jumping-jack, and the booby a pen wiper made of a potato dressed as a woman. After the games were over the guests were invited into the large dining hall, where a magnificent repast was elegantly served. The decorations were of holly and mistletoe and many bright-hued flowers.

Another novel feature of the evening was the selecting of partners for the evening by means of the unwinding of an intricately-woven spider web. This web was entirely of pink and white twine. The pink ends were Wherever a pink and a white fibre met those holding the ends cast their lots together for the evening. As a whole last evening was one which will be whole last evening was one which will be long remembered by the many present. Among them were: Misses Lora Venable, Maggie Dickenson, May Patten, Ailie Shropshire, Ada and Emmie Bean, Dot Maise, Lella Perkerson, Winnie Bunker, Lena Pin, Mackle Pascal, Lella Rodgers, Dot Whitcomb, Alice Zachery, Mary Connally, Abbie Middle-brooks, Dividie Mobley, Jennie and Clide Smith, Rex Dargan, Lucile Smith, Litton Lewis, John Simonton, Henry Thornton, George Smith, Rob Jones, John Webster, Stafford Nash, Walter Nash, Brooks Clark, Josh Johnson, Will Perkerson, Cleve Bowles, Joe Connally, Joe Ellison, Dick Eubanks and Ashby Jones.

Last evening Miss Mabel Shropshire entertained a few of her friends in a very charming manner. With the telling of fortunes and the playing of novel bames the evening was pleasantly spent. One interesting game was the burnin gof fagots. Each person threw a fagot into the fire and told a story; if the story was finished before the fagot burned a golden wishbone was awarded the lucky one. The one receiving this is to have every wish granted during the coming year. Those present were: Mabel Lewis, Mary Howard, Mabel Shropshire, Lucile Daniel, Ruby and Pearl Mozley, Lelia Daniels, ky Lee, Essie La-Rose, Lucian and Julian Harris, Walter Forbes, Albert and Edward Perdue, Clarence Williamson, Elsie Thomas and Jamie Barnes.

The marriage of Miss Georgia Williams and Mr. Louis R. Sams, on the evening of the 27th, was one of the lovellest of home weddings. The bride's pretty home on the Boulevard was as beautiful as a fairy's retreat, the december was a perfect, and as the handsome vard was as beautiful as a fairy's retreat, the decorations were perfect, and as the handsome couple stood under an archway of creamy lace, mistletoe and smilax, the picture was complete. Elegant refreshments were most gracefully served during the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Sams are two popular young people, and their hundreds of friends wish them all the happiness they so fondly expect. Their popularity was shown by their many lovely presents.

And the Police Are On the Lookout for Him-A Man With a Gun-Other News at the Police Station.

The police are still looking for Gus fischer, but it appears that he has left the city. More than one charge is to be made against him, and if caught he will have a hard time getting off again unless satis factory explanations can be made. Fischer is an old theatrical man, and came here last week with the Hattie Bernard-Chase Company. He held the position of property man with the company. He has been in the business for years, and was looked upon as a good man.

Fischer did not leave the city with the company for some reason. Whether he was discharged or whether he liked Atlan-ta and decided to stay here is not known. Any way he left the troupe here, and in a short while he became known to the police. First he got on a Christmas drunk, and was sent in by Patrolman Waits. He was kept only until he sobered up, and was then allowed to go.

The night following his arrest it seems from reports that he enlarged his operations. H spent the night with a young ma Mr. N. Hayne, whom he had met, and who Mr. N. Hayne, whom he had met, and who liked the show man. The morning after Fischer left Hayne missed an overcoat, and a coat, and he at once attributed his loss to Fischer. He reported the matter to Captain Manley, and the police were put on notice to look out for Fischer. Not long after it was reported to the same officer that Fischer had forged a check for $20 and signed the name of Mr. L. DeGive thereto. Fischer is about thirty-five years old, and is an interesting talker. He has been in the theatrical business for sveral years.

He Had a Big Gun.

Patrolman Hudson arrested Will Hayne yesterday afternoon on Peters street, and he was locked up on a charge of disorderly conduct. When arrested Hayne had a Winchester rifle on his shoulder and it was said he was hunting for a negro with the expressed purpose of killing him. Hayne was locked up to prevent the consummation of his threat, if he had made such a threat. Hayne is a locomotive engineer, and was in charge of the engine which collided with the electric car on the Chattahoochee line with such deadly effect last summer.

It was lummense.

It Was Imme Now that the figures are all in and the results can be plainly seen it is apparent that the Christmas arrests outnumbered anything ever known in the history of the police deone cause of this was the fact that the saloons were in full blast. Another is that Atlanta is a great city. Its increased growth brings with it increased crime.

Developments made in the case yesterday brought out the young man's history, and it now seems that a mistake was made in locking the young Virginian up.

Young Casey vas held until last night, when he was allowed to go. During the day yesterday he employed Mr. Tom Corrigan to represent him in whatever legal proceedings might be necessary to secure his release. Mr. Corrigan happened to know the young man's family in Lynchburg and says they are most estimable people. He laughed at the idea that Casey was a safe blower as Detectives Looney and Cason believed.

No action was taken in the matter by the detective department until last night, when Mr. Corrigan came down to see if there was no chance of saving the young man from a night's stay in his dirty cell. He said unless Casey was released he would institute a habeas corpus proceeding to get him out. He said he was firmly convinced that Casey was all right, and he thought it a hardship to keep him locked was all right, and he thought it a hardship to keep him locked was all right, and he thought it a hardship to keep him locked up another night.

Conf Connolly had a talk with Casey, and the young man gave a clear account of himself. He gave references and said he was manager of a large tobacco factory in Lynchburg. His brother, he said, is a large tobacco manufacturer in Lynchburg. After talking with him Chief Connolly allowed Casey to go, and it was explained to him that a mistake had been made in his arrest. Casey is well dressed and well educated.

College songs and reminiscences will be revived and the evening will be one of rare enjoyment.

A sumptuous feast will be spread before the banqueters, and everything in the way of eatables will be given a "local habitation" on the table.

The banquet will begin at 8 o'clock promptly, and Jadge E. C. Kontz, the president of the Kappa Alpha Association will preside.

Several short speeches will be delivered by the following well-known gentlemen, all of whom are loyal and devoted members of that brotherhood: Messrs. Clark Howell, Thad Horton, Burton Smith, John Candler, Clifford Anderson, J. H. Lumpkin and Dr. Hunter P. Cooper.

There are many resident K. A's. in Atlanta and they represent in the several chapters to which they belong, nearly every respectable college in the south.

The fraternity is one of the best in the south and its catalogue of members is splendidly illustrated by the success to which many of them have attained in their past collegiate struggles.

The plates have nearly all been taken, and from the present outlook, the banquet will be one of the happi st reunions in the history of that organization.

A PAINFUL OPERATION

s|Performed Upon a Six Year Old Boy-It Made Him Worse. Made Him Worse.

Atlanta, Ga., November 21, 1892.—
Messrs. Editors: In 1886 my son William suffered much pain caused by a cancer of the mouth. By advice of physicians, in an endeayor to remove the cancer an operation was performed, extending to the jawbone (which they scraped), but the cancer returned shortly after and commenced growing rapidly again. Finally after trying many remedies in vain, I commenced to give him S. S. S., and with the second bottle he began to improve. After seven bottles had been taken, the cancer disappeared entirely, and though six years have elapsed, there has been no return, and I have every reason to believe that he is permanently cured. His cure is due exclusively to S. S. G. Factory Street.

y Applications for Clemency C sidered by the Governor—Some Granted, Others Refused.

When Governor Northen was inaugurated he found five hundred applications for purdon awaiting for consideration. He has worked at them for two years endeavoring to catch up with them. He has worked hard, too, night and day, for there is plenty of other business in the executive department and every year adds new work to the office, for Georgia is steadily growing. Yesterday the governor acted on a dozen applications, and although from one to three new applications have been coming in each day during the two years, he has reduced the number on his desk to twenty. He has almost caught up and soon will He has almost caught up and soon will

He has almost caught up and soon will have the pardon docket so that he can take hold of the new cases as they arise.

Among the applications which he acted on yesterday was that in behalf of Dr. John Rembert Von Pollnitz, whose execution has been set for January 6th at Bainbridge. Von Pollnitz killed his wife. His attorney says that he is crazy and that is attorney says that he is crazy and that is the ground upon which clemency is asked. The murderer's friends have secured considerable testimony on that line. He is sixty years old. He was a widower when he married his last wife, whose father lives at Cave Springs. Prior to the marriage Miss Pullen was teaching school in Alabama. She had some money. This her husband took and spent for whisky. He was on a spree when he knocked her down and stamped her to death. They had been married only two or three months. His defense was insanity, but he was convicted and sentenced to death. Among the papers presented to the governor was a letter from an old physician in South Carolina who wrots that Von Pollnitz is connected with some of the best families in that state. This doctor says that during the war he considered Von Pollnitz insane and has no doubt that he is today.

Governor Northen took the same position in this case that he did in the application of Osburn. If the man is insane it should be determined in the regular way. The governor so wrote Mr. Russell, the prisoner's lawyer, and refused to interfere. A motion for a new trial has been made.

Fred Blackwood, sentenced from Richmond county for nine years for forgery, was more fortunate in his application. He was sent to the penitentiary in 1887. His case attracted attention when it was fresh on account of some unusual features. After the forgery, which was to secure goods, he went over in South Carolina. The Augusta merchant who had been his victim followed him, arrested him and carried him back to Augusta without a warrant or requisition. An attempt was made to carry the merchant over into South Carolina for kidnaping, but he was killed before the authorities across the river could get him.

Blackwood was pardoned chiefly because he was nearly dead.

Buck Mobley, whose case was mentioned last week in The Constitution, was another fortunate. He stole a pair of ponies from Dr. J. W. Nelms when the doctor was principal keeper of the penitentiary and was sent up for thirty years. He has served nine years for ma their discharge.

The governor refused pardons to Andrew Ray, Davis Yancey and Adam Guthrie. Ray is from Chattooga county and is in for three years for mule stealing. Yancey was sentenced from Polk county for twelve months for assault and battery and Gurthrie got the same term from Warren county court for selling liquor without a license.

By Which the Manchester Baptist

WILL BE RUSHED TO COMPLETION.

Rev. Bolling Sassnett's Splendid Work for the New Military

Under a new plan, just determined upon, the great Southern Baptist Female college at Manchester is to be rushed to immediate completion.

Mr. Stanton declares that the primary classes at least shall be enrolled, and the institution opened by early spring.

Of course it will not be possible to complete by that time this entire massive structure, but work will be concentrated upon the central portion of the building, and the two wings will be completed in the usual course of construction.

The central portion of this building is large enough for a college in itself. It will easily accommodate from 175 to 200 pupils, and this will make the beginning of the greatest female college of the south.

Mr. Stanton's plan is to concentrate material and men as rapidly as possible upon this central structure, and it is thought by an extra effort it can be completed and put in order by April 1st, or 15th, at farthest, and that by the first day of May the primary classes of the school can be organized.

Mr. Stanton is moving with great energy toward this result and there is no failure recorded against him in the enterprises which have engaged his energies in the past. It may be set down as true under present conditions that the college curriculum will be begun in the early spring, and that Manchester's educational career will make its inaughral effort at that time.

The military institute and chatauqua is expected to be completed and ready for work by July, at the farthest, and it is the fixed intention of the projectors of this enterprise to make the coming summer notable in some interesting chatauqua exercises to be held in the big tabernacle now being erected for that purpose. Rev. Bolling Sassnett is displaying great energy and zeal in the preliminary organization of a board of control for this new institution and is meeting with gratifying success, having secured the names and support of a number of influential and distinguished persons as sponsors and directors of the school.

Altogether the educational institutions of t

AND THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPER

For a great pre-New Year sale. Our Christmas business was immense. The clear, keen, sharp weather gave impetus to trade, and buyers came in throngs.. The store tensions were strained severely, but we met the rush every time, and accommodated the crowds splendidly. Purchasers and salespeople were all good natured and happythe fine humor that is created by brisk business. Both seller and buyer feel and appreciate it.
